Ms. Boynton noted that they would not be officially electing new chairs for the region at this meeting because Carlisle has not yet had their town elections.

II. PUBLIC COMMENTS

1. Anne Hayden, 342 Sudbury Road, Concord, MA. Ms. Hayden stated that after looking at tonight's agenda, she noticed that Mr. Badalament put together a plan to bring the CCHS School Advisory Council into compliance with the laws of the Massachusetts Education Reform Act of 1993. She noted that the law indicates that the 5 SAC's can be given additional tasks by the School Committee. She stated that the CMS has many serious problems right now, including low teacher moral, space and building issues, student stress concerns and academic issues. Ms. Hayden urged the SC to do some creative thinking around ways to involve the CMS advisory council on many of these problems. She urged both SC to actively involve the SAC in efforts to improve the schools.

Lee Bernstein and Allie Haney, Student Senate Reps, reported that the Senate is currently working on a 20th Amendment event and they are making amendments to the current Constitution so that when the new Principal comes, his role with the Senate will be more concrete. They also stated that they are working on increasing printer access at the high school and they are also doing the Student Government elections in the coming week. Ms. Rigby also noted the Phantom of the Opera play tickets go on sale this weekend.

IV. CHAIRS REPORT

Ms. Boynton stated that on May 3rd at 6:30, they would be meeting with HYA Consultants and that it is an open, public meeting and all are welcomed to attend.

Ms. Boynton stated that US News and World Reports put out rankings and noted that CCHS was #50 out of 350 Massachusetts high schools. She noted that she drilled down to figure out the methodology used. She stated that the most important factor put into the ranking was the percentage of seniors taking AP tests (or the equivalent). She stated that only 39% of CCHS seniors took an AP test. She noted that 75 schools in MA passed the 1st 3 levels of criteria and were then ranked based on college readiness, or the percentage of seniors taking AP exams. Ms. Boynton pointed out that of the 39% of the students at CCHS who took an AP class, all 39% passed. She noted that a more reasonable calculation might be how well the students who took the AP classes did. She noted that a new ranking based on this calculation would rank CCHS #1. Mr. Johnston recommended forming an advisory committee to further look into the many different rankings and methodology used as well as per pupil spending reports.
